Activity Summary

The National Level TechSymposium 2k24 event at DKTE, a yearly occurrence, featured a prominent coding competition named "The ByteSaga" organized by the Computer Science and Engineering students. The competition comprised three rounds: aptitude, debugging, and coding, each designed to challenge participants' skills. Participants were divided into two groups: novice (1st and 2nd-year students) and expert (3rd and 4th-year students).

The event commenced with participant registration and an inauguration ceremony. The ByteSaga competition initiated with the aptitude round, followed by the debugging round, and concluded with the coding round. Qualifying participants from each round advanced to the subsequent stage. At the end of the competition, winners from both novice and expert groups were announced.

The winners were:

The ByteSaga (Novice):

First Place: Vishal Desai and Shreeyash Dongarkar (WCE)

Second Place: Ameya Unchagaonkar and Tanmay Shingde(WCE)

Third Place: Harshavardhan Bamane and Yash Patil (WCE)
